2018 SECOND ROUND UNIVERSITY OFFERS THROUGH TISC

Second round university offer information is now available to applicants on the Tertiary Institutions Service Centre's website, www.tisc.edu.au.

There were a total of 17,708 applications in the 2017/2018 admissions period, including 12,406 from WACE students (last year: 18,361 applications, including 12,498 from WACE students).

86% of university applicants have received an offer. There were a total of 15,142 offers over the two rounds of offers, with 76% of offers going to first preferences. At the same time last year the universities had made 15,390 offers, with 76% going to first preferences. 2017 WACE students received 11,513 offers for 2018 university entry (93% of WACE applicants). The 2016 WACE cohort received 11,349 offers for 2017 entry (91% of WACE applicants).

Since the main round of offers in January 9,413 people have already enrolled (9,672 last year).

This year there were 1,727 new offers in the second round (1,574 last year). These were made to a mixture of new applicants and existing applicants who missed an offer in the main round or who have now been offered a course higher in their preferences.

Also included in the second round of offers are people who were offered places in the main round but had chosen to wait in the hope of being offered one of their higher preferences in the current round. The universities have reoffered 1,295 places (1,356 last year) to applicants who chose to use this 'safety net' for their main round offer.

There are always a number of people who do not take up their offers or who choose to defer studies until the following year. There are 1,177 applicants who have not accepted their first preference offer from January's main round (1,227 last year). A further 1,532 applicants have chosen to defer their study until 2019 (1,566 at the same time last year).

See attached for Summary of University Offers through TISC, 2014 to 2018. Full application and offer statistics for all four universities, by course, are available at www.tisc.edu.au.
